Similar Accidents Cause Two Deaths

Frank D. Hammond and Wm. Plymale Killed by Falling

Frank D. Hammond was almost instantly killed early last Saturday morning by falling from a second story porch at his home just below Fort Gay.

He stepped out of his room onto the rear porch to throw out a bowl of water. In the act of doing so his knee rested against the railing, which proved to be weak from decay. It gave way and he pitched headlong to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet. His sister, Mrs. Hoxley, was in the kitchen and saw him fall. He was carried into the house by his brothers and breathed only twice after being placed on a bed. Both arms were broken, as were also his neck, chest bones, the nose and the jaw.

The news of this extremely lamentable accident shocked the people of Louisa to an unusual extent. Mr. Hammond had been connected with the mercantile business in Louisa since his early manhood and was therefore one of us. He was almost 48 years old and was never married.

The funeral took place from the residence on Monday at one o'clock, and the interment followed in Fairview burial grounds, where his parents rest. Rev. A. C. Bostwick, of the M. E. Church, Louisa, preached the funeral, and was assisted in the services by Revs. L. D. Bryan and W. A. Gault. Many people from Louisa were present and the choir was made up from the Louisa churches. The pall bearers were brothers and brothers-in-law of the deceased, and Dr. A. W. Bromley. The latter was one of Mr. Hammond's best friends, being of exactly the same age and having grown up together in Fort Gay. Nearly all their lives they had celebrated their birthday by dining together.

Frank Hammond was an ideal man. His character was above reproach in every way. He was even tempered to a remarkable degree and this fact has been the subject of much comment since his death. He was a Presbyterian, of which church his parents were devout members. They moved from Ohio to Fort Gay when Frank was a child. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ned Bexley, and three brothers, Charley Johnson and Will. Also, by two nieces, daughters of his deceased sister, Mrs. W. M. Schumaker, of Canton. They and their father attended the funeral.

It is not often that we find a man with no enemies, but we believe it may be truthfully said of Frank Hammond that he had none. He was strictly pleasant in manner, was faithful to his employer's interest, clean in his life, patient, industrious and considerate of others. Nothing favorable that he might say of him would be overdrawn. His death is a real loss to the community and a heavy blow to the family.

The deceased was chief assistant in W. H. Adams' department store and before that had been with W. D. Pierce and C. W. J. J. J.

Fell From A Fence

Wm. Plymale, age 34, was killed Monday at his home in Wayne-co., W. Va., by falling from a fence. He was sitting on the fence and fell backward, his head striking a rock. His son was near and reached him quickly, but he died very soon.

Mr. Plymale was one of the substantial citizens of his neighborhood. It was remarkably well preserved for one of his years. His home was about five miles below Fort Gay.

It is quite a coincidence that his death resulted so nearly like that of Frank Hammond and at almost the same time.

Wm. Carter is Improving

Wm. Carter, who was shot by Dr. R. C. Moore on Thursday evening of last week, is doing well and it is now believed he will recover. Dr. Moore was allowed bail the next day after the shooting and promptly gave it. His brother, Farris, came from Ridge Farm Hill, where he heard of the affair.

MOVED TO OHIO.

The family of M. Damm has moved from this place to Sidney, Ohio. Mrs. Damm and children, Frederick and Katherine, left on Tuesday and will be joined later by the other members of the family who are now at Hittches. They have resided in Louisa several years.

YOUNG SOLDIER DEAD.

The body of a soldier named Musie passed through Louisa Monday evening. The report is that his home was near East Point and that he was court-martialed and put to death at a soldiers camp in Ohio for having killed his captain. We do not give this as true, however.

G. Watson, deceased, and of Mrs. F. L. Stewart, of Louisa. He is one of Ashland's leading business men. Gov. Stanley has appointed Hon. R. S. Dinkie, of Catlettsburg, to fill the unexpired term as County Judge.

WILBURN HALL DEAD.

After an illness of several months at his home in Portsmouth, O., Wilburn Hall, Jr., died last Thursday morning. He had been ill since last March, the result of an attack of bronchitis. He is survived by his wife, two sisters, Mrs. Laura Baker, of Carter county, and Mrs. Melissa Tackett, of Floyd-co., and one brother, Geo. Hall, of Portsmouth.

The deceased was born in Floyd-co., Ky., and was 32 years old. He was a son of Elias and Sarah Hall, both of whom died some time ago.

The body was brought to Louisa last Friday morning and was taken to his old home at Shady Valley for burial.

Announcement of Interesting Event to Occur in Louisa at That Time

Miss Shirley C. Burns was a delightful hostess on Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Sewing Club and a number of other friends who had been invited to a "Sewing Party" at her home. Conversation, knitting and sewing occupied the time until the table was cleared and refreshments were served. A delicious dinner was served in picnic style at noon. County President M. S. Burns and Prof. E. M. Kennison were among those from Louisa who attended.

The ladies of the church had prepared everything necessary for the family to go to home-keeping. A good hot supper awaited them upon the arrival of the train at 5:30. Donations covering the needs of the table for some time were sent by members and friends of the church and a number were at the train and parsonage to give the family a hearty greeting. Rev. Chambers' family consists of wife and two little daughters. They have made a most favorable impression.

THREE KENTUCKY SOLDIERS KILLED

Four Privates Meet Death Under Wheels of Electric Train Near Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Four privates of the 45th United States Infantry, stationed at Fort Sheridan, were run over and instantly killed by a North Shore electric train at Highland Park last night.

The men were on leave of absence and were attempting to board a south-bound train. It is believed they were disconcerted by the rain and fog and were unaware of the nearness of the train which ran over them. The dead: Chester Gilbert, 19 years old, Doorway, Owensboro, Ky.; Addison Delart, 20, Dowdard, Elletts-co., Ky.

Francis M. Franch, 24, Richmond, Va.; James Ball, 20, Irwin, Lewis-co., Ky. All were members of G. Company, which formed a part of a battalion of the 45th Infantry brought from Fort Benjamin Harrison some time ago for garrison duty at Fort Sheridan.

Mr. C. C. Bellomy Dead

Mr. C. C. Bellomy died Wednesday at his home at Meredith, W. Va., about four miles from Louisa. He was eighty-two years old and had been in a feeble condition for some time. He was one of the good old citizens of Wayne-co. This is the third death in that family within six months.

CANTONMENT ROAD BUILDING IN RECORD TIME

A record breaking piece of road building was completed last week in connection with the army cantonment near Louisville, Ky. This is one of the few military establishments that have built permanent roads. In 63 working days the contractor completed 63,260 square yards of Trinidad asphaltic concrete highway laid on a concrete base, or about 6 miles of road 18 feet wide. A mile of the road was over a four-foot fill, and immediately upon its completion a traffic count showed that 1000 vehicles passed over it within the first hour. Most of these vehicles were motor trucks and wagons carrying loads of from one to five tons. The record made by the paying company, the contractors, is all the more remarkable, in view of the fact that it was necessary to haul and crush all the stone used on the work.

HOME DEMONSTRATION WORK TO BE EXTENDED

Lawrence County Going Forward With the Aid of the U. S.

Lawrence county has taken another step forward and placed herself in line with the most progressive counties in one important movement. We refer to the Home Demonstration work which the United States government is providing for counties that will bear the expense of salary for the local agents. The fiscal court of Lawrence has very properly joined hands with the U. S. government in this important matter and we are to have one of the most competent agents at work ten months in the year. During January and February this agent is to take a special course in the work at Kentucky college at her own expense.

Miss Edna Davis, who has done such efficient work in this county, will continue here, although she had been already promoted to the supervision of several counties in Eastern Kentucky. She has declined the promotion to continue the work here. She will enter immediately upon work in the county schools, where one afternoon in each week will be given to demonstrations. The coming of sweet potatoes will be a specialty to have first attention this fall so as to see this year's crop. It is difficult to possibly run sweet potatoes. The plan for this year is for the Home Demonstration department to purchase the potatoes at from $1 to $1.50 per bushel, according to the quality. Then the planting will be done in the presence of all who desire to learn how, so that hereafter the women and girls may take care of this valuable crop themselves.

The NEWS has not devoted as much space to this Home Demonstration movement as it should have done. There is no work more important to our present and future. Lawrence county is almost wholly dependent upon farming, and the surface is too rough to admit of agriculture on the same scale as level countries. Therefore, the fruits and crops that can be produced on comparatively small patches are what we must depend upon. After being produced these must be preserved in a manner that will make them marketable. The government has standardized the canned products and by complying with the rules the girls and women of our county can turn the products into cash at good profits. The women are industrious and intelligent and progressive. All they need is a chance and it is up to us to give them the advantages. This will result in better and more attractive farm homes and will keep the girls and boys on the farms. This is the object of the government's great enterprise known as home demonstration work. These agents will help the various communities in any line of uplift work. All you have to do is to call for them to come into your neighborhood and help.

Mrs. Helen R. Wolcott and Miss Lillie Logan, of Lexington, were here Tuesday. Mrs. Wolcott is in charge of the work in Kentucky. She presented the proposition to the fiscal court in a strong speech. Attorneys A. O. Carter and R. C. McClure and others voluntarily and heartily spoke in favor of the proposition.

Let everybody awake to the importance of this work and help to make it a greater success.

Seventy Selected Young Men Leave Lawrence County Sends Second Allotment of Fine Fellows to War

The seventy young men of Lawrence county who were called to go to Camp Taylor at Louisville Wednesday, assembled in Louisa on Tuesday afternoon in response to the call of the local board.

Under the auspices of the Red Cross Society of Louisa an appropriate program was rendered at the court house Tuesday evening where a crowd too large for the big court room had gathered to honor the boys who are to go into training immediately for the great war for freedom.

M. S. Burns presided over the meeting. The selected young men marched into the court room and were seated up front. Each wore a small flag and a ribbon badge marked "Lawrence County, Kentucky." The school children marched into the room ahead of the soldier boys.

Rev. W. A. Gault led in prayer, there were some patriotic songs, and Rev. A. C. Bostwick made a very appropriate and cheerful speech. May Edward spoke most interestingly, dwelling largely upon the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross.

Mr. Burns called upon any of the soldiers who desired to speak. Responses came from Jim Thompson (naturalized Syrian) Lieutenant J. W. Dixon, Harry H. Roberts and Emmette Sparks. Thompson who knows by experience the difference between a free country and the other kind, made a very impressive talk.

Chairman Burns announced that the presents ordered for the boys by the Red Cross had not arrived, but would be received in time for distribution Wednesday morning. These consisted chiefly of boxes of candy and stationery.

Wednesday morning the boys met at the court house and 63 responded to roll call. Sylvester Jobe substituted for the missing one and was vigorously cheered. Lieut. Dixon was recently commissioned in the dental corps and was placed in charge of the soldiers. Elley Danna, who did seven months service at Vera Cruz, Mexico, and Otto Danforth were made assistants.

The soldiers marched to the depot to await the special train from Pikeville, carrying troops from all the upper counties. They lined up and the large crowd bid them farewell, good luck and a safe return. There were many tears shed, despite the efforts to be cheerful. It is very seldom that such an impressive scene is witnessed.

THE FAIR HELD AT LOUISA LAST WEEK

Displays Were Creditable and the Attendance was Quite Large

The county fair at Louisa was largely attended last Friday and Saturday. The exhibits were not nearly as numerous as they would have been but for the heavy and steady downpour of rain on entry day—Thursday. The woman's department was the only one fully equipped. It was a handsome display and called forth favorable comment from everybody who saw it.

The Ashland Boosters helped to make Friday lively. They came about fifty strong and made their presence felt, seen and heard. They proved to be a jolly bunch of business men and the people who saw them will think better of Ashland and visit it often because of having seen them. Messrs. W. L. Watson and R. F. Forney made speeches to the assembled multitude.

The balloon ascensions on Friday and Saturday were witnessed by intensely interested crowds. The man made the descent by parachute each time successfully, landing near the river both trips.

The Ashland brass band was present and helped to make the day enjoyable.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us in the loss of our son, Dawson. LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN ON McAdoo Hopes Subscriptions Will Amount to Not Less Than $5,000,000,000.

WANTS 10,000,000 BUYERS

Secretary Says, "It is Essential to Success of War and to Support of Our Troops That These Loans Shall Be Oversubscribed."

Cleveland, O., Oct. 2.—"Every citizen who buys a $100 Liberty bond is making a base hit against the enemies of his country." So declared Secretary McAdoo here in selling the first Liberty bond of the second issue of 1917 to Tris Speaker, star outfielder of the Cleveland baseball club. The public square was thronged with thousands. "And every citizen who buys four $100 bonds," continued McAdoo, "is making a home run. Mr. Speaker is making the longest base hit of his career in buying a $1,000 bond, for it's good for two and a half home runs."

Chicago, Oct. 2.—For five minutes today factory and steamboat whistles will blow, church bells will ring and automobile horns will toot to usher in the campaign for the second Liberty loan.

At the same hour 500 experienced bond salesmen will leave their council in the red room of the Hotel La Salle, and the drive to raise $700,000,000 in this district by noon of October 27 will be open.

Before the end of the week an augmented "flying squadron" of 1,000 men will cover all of Cook county.

McAdoo Opens Campaign.
Washington, Oct. 2.—Secretary McAdoo left for Cleveland, O., where tonight he will officially open the national campaign for the new Liberty loan. The secretary expressed the hope subscriptions will amount to not less than $5,000,000,000 and that the number of subscribers will be at least 10,000,000.

Issues Appeal to People.
In an appeal to the American people the secretary said:

"It is essential to the success of the war and to the support of our gallant troops that these loans shall not only be subscribed, but oversubscribed. No one is asked to donate or give his money to the government, but every one is asked to lend his money to the government. The loans will be repaid."

Second to Fighting.
"Through the purchase of Liberty bonds every one can help. No more patriotic duty can be performed by those who cannot actually fight upon the field of battle.

"We fight, first of all, for America's vital rights, the right to the unobstructed and unobstructed use of the high seas, so that the surplus products of our farms, our mines and our factories may be carried into the harbors of every friendly nation in the world. Our welfare and prosperity as a people depend upon our right of peaceful intercourse with all the nations of the earth.

"We fight to protect our citizens against assassination and murder upon the high seas. We fight for peace. "To secure these ends I appeal to every man and woman who resides upon the soil of free America and enjoys the blessings of her priceless institutions to join the league of patriots by purchasing a Liberty bond."

PASS ALONG THE SMOKES

YOU warm-hearted people of Lawrence county won't let the men who are fighting your fight go smoke-hungry.

Not a bit of it. You're going to see to it that they get all the tobacco they need—just as the folks back home in England and France are taking care of the smokers for Tommy and Poilu. It isn't much to do—considering. A dollar or a quarter from you that gives a little comfort to one of your own flesh and blood doesn't suck up to much alongside the fact that the very man you are befriending may have to give up his life.

But it's a regular thing to do—and you "regular" men and women will do it.

This is the way. Fill in that coupon below, put it in an envelope together with all you can afford to give and drop it in the nearest box now, addressed to BIG SANDY NEWS TOBACCO FUND.

Our paper has joined The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times in this most worthy undertaking.

Approved by the Secretaries of War and Navy, the management of this fund buys its tobacco at cost—every contribution of 25 cents means 45 to 50 cents' worth of tobacco for the man out there.

No one profits but the fighting man—rents, postage, advertising are all contributed and the soldier who gets your tobacco will send you a postal telling how much it meant to him.

There's no argument here. Just put your name on that blank line and pass along the smokes.

REP. C. B. MILLER

Representative C. B. Miller of Minnesota, a member of the house foreign affairs committee, is on his way to France on a secret mission for the war department and the American Red Cross. With him on the trip is Henry Franklin Hamilton, who has been in this country for the past few weeks, and who is a member of the new French cabinet.

BRITISH SMASH TURKS

Gen. Maude's Forces Invest Pivot Fortress of Ramadie.

Commander, With Several Thousand Moslem Troops, Made Prisoner—Guns and Stores Captured.

London, Oct. 2.—The British forces operating in Mesopotamia again have taken the offensive, which has been held up for several months by the extreme heat, and their initial effort has been marked with great success against the Turks.

Maj. Gen. Frederick S. Maude's army, which conquered Bagdad, now has reached Ramadie, on the Euphrates.

The brief report which was received by the war office told of the capture of Musaid ridge, four miles to the east of Ramadie, the position from which the city is dominated.

When the British commander filed his report his troops had completely invested the city, and the statement adds that at nine o'clock on that morning "the enemy was surrendering everywhere."

The report does not make the definite claim that the city had surrendered, but this inference is drawn from the fact that among the several thousand Turks is the commander of their forces, Ahmed Bey. All members of his staff also were captured.

"Practically the entire garrison of Ramadie fell into our hands," the report says. "Included in our captures were guns, arms, ammunition, stores, equipment and other booty."

General Maude's victory was won largely by cavalry, a branch of the army which was playing its part in a major operation for the first time in months of the world war.

General Maude reports the Turks attempting to break through to the west, but were driven back into the city by the cavalry, and apparently all were taken prisoner.

STUTTGART IS BOMBED

British Navy Patrols Destroy Five German Airplanes—Nine Persons Killed in London Raid.

Paris, Oct. 2.—French aviators dropped half a ton of projectiles on the German city of Stuttgart in reprisal for the bombardment by the Germans of Bar-Le-Duc.

London, Oct. 2.—The German air raid made over London Sunday night—the fifth within a week—was marked by thrilling battles high in the clouds between British and German aviators. Nine persons were killed and forty injured by the German bombs.

British navy patrols destroyed five of the raiding machines. The British air patrols, expecting another attack, were on the alert, and as soon as the danger signal was sounded scores of battle planes and "chasers" went up to attack the hostile visitors.

As on Saturday night, the attackers flew in squadrons, but not all of the machines were able to get as far as London. Those that were turned back dropped their bombs on districts in Kent and Essex.

Administrator Says Public Will Benefit in Communities Where Dealers Have Been Making Excessive Profits.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Three important orders affecting coal prices were issued by Fuel Administrator Harry A. Garfield.

By their terms the following become effective today:

1. Maximum retail prices of anthracite and bituminous coal, based on dealers' average gross margin of profit in 1915 plus 30 per cent added to the present cost to dealers, as fixed by the government.

2. Reduction of 60 cents or 15 per cent in prices at the mines of Pennsylvania anthracite coal.

3. Increases ranging from 20 cents to $1.30 a ton for bituminous coal at the mines in nine states where operators have claimed that the former prices fixed by President Wilson were not sufficient to cover costs.

Contracts unaffected.

Mr. Garfield's order covering retail prices contains full directions to dealers how to figure their average gross margins in 1915 and how to fix their present prices. It is stipulated, however, that the new order does not affect contracts between retailers and consumers.

Whether the public will receive considerable reductions is difficult to judge. It is Mr. Garfield's belief in many communities, where the retailers have been making excessive profits, there will be marked decreases in prices to the public. In other localities, where retailers have been content with modest profits, it will not make so much difference.

Must File Sheets.

Retailers throughout the country will be called upon to file sworn cost sheets with the fuel administrator and the federal trade commission. Under power conferred by the food control act heavy penalties may be imposed upon those who fail to carry out the fuel administrator's orders.

In no case may a dealer make a greater profit than during July of the present year.

Price Computation.

To compute the retail price a dealer must take his average gross margin in 1915 plus 30 per cent and then add it to the price of the coal at the mines, plus the dealer's profits of from 15 to 30 cents a ton plus the freight from the mines to his city. If the dealer made a gross profit of $2 a ton in 1915 he will make about $2.60.

The public will benefit directly by the reduction in anthracite coal at the mines.

These reductions, which apply only to Pennsylvania anthracite coal, are as follows:

White ash reduced from $4 to $3.40. Red ash reduced from $4.10 to $3.60. Lykens Valley reduced from $4.35 to $3.75.

News Culled in the Capital

Activities in the State Capital and all Departments of the Government of the Commonwealth covered by our Special Frankfort Correspondent.

Big Increase Promised.

Kentucky will more than break even on receipts and disbursements for the present fiscal year, regardless of the operations of the tax reform law, under which the present assessment is being made.

The reason is that taxes collected up to June 30, 1918, the end of the fiscal year, will be at the old rate of 55 cents on the $100. The taxes now due and carrying a penalty December 1 are collected on assessments made in the fall of 1916. The new rate of 40 cents will be paid next fall on assessments made as of the first of September of this year.

As a result the state will get in a general property tax, approximating collections for last year, and in addition there is the 5 cents the gallon tax on whisky, 10 cents the barrel on all beer manufactured or sold in Kentucky, the special oil production tax, the tax on racetracks and various other changes in license schedules and new features, every one of which is in operation and go to swell the total for the ensuing fiscal year.

The state for the last several years has been running something like three-quarters of a million behind its stated expenditures, but Chairman M. M. Logan, of the State Tax Commission, roughly estimates that the income for this year will go at least a half million over the expenditures.

In the meantime the Tax Commission will have gone through its first year's assessment, and will have an opportunity to adjust the new system to conditions.

Food Dictator Gives Warning.

Mr. F. M. Sackett, Federal Food Administrator for Kentucky, has issued the following statement:

"What appears to be a deliberate anti-American propaganda to prevent housewives from earning their surplus fruits and vegetables, is being carried on in Louisville and other cities. The report has been circulated, and to all appearance in a systematic manner, that the government is going to seize for war purposes 50 per cent of all canned goods found in the pantries of the homes. Another report which has gained considerable currency is that federal inspectors will take an inventory of canned foods in every home and take away everything except barely enough to supply the needs of the families involved."

"Through the efforts of the public officials, the schools and patriotic individuals, the canning of surplus food products has been developed to a large extent in Kentucky. Right now there are thousands of women in Kentucky who are adopting this method of helping to win the war. These women may rest assured that the government will not confiscate the products of their labor. This is America, not Germany, and those who can food will continue to eat it or sell it or give it away just as they please. Any statement to the contrary is a dangerous misrepresentation, and whether intended to do so or not, is bound to work to the detriment of this country and her preparedness."

Boy Raffles Admits Guilt.

Probably the youngest prisoner that has appeared in the Federal Court is George Deaton, 9 years old, who admits entering the postoffice at Seco, Letcher county, and taking money and stamps. D. F. Patterson, a grown youth, is indicted with him. Deaton will testify against Patterson, who pleaded not guilty. The boy's father said he climbed in through an open window, and the boy said Patterson induced him to do it. William Thomas, a negro, pleaded not guilty to forging the name of Carl Faulkner to a money order from Station 16 of the Detroit postoffice and offering it for collection at the Lexington postoffice. Dr. Lewis South, indicted on a charge of using the mails to defraud, will be tried next term.

Argue Brumleve Contest.

The appeal of M. J. Brumleve from the ruling of Circuit Judge Itay, quashing the return on the notice in his contest suit against Sheriff Charles J. Cronan for the Democratic nomination for mayor of Louisville, was argued before the court of appeals, Merritt O'Neal representing Sheriff Cronan and Judge James Gregory representing Mr. Brumleve.

McGaughey Pleads Not Guilty.

Ollie McGaughey, interurban motorman, indicted by the federal grand jury under the Mann white slave law, pleaded guilty in the United States District Court to the charge of taking a girl to Middletown, O., for immoral purposes.

Damages Are Sustained.

The court of appeals affirmed the judgment of the Jefferson circuit court awarding $1,600 damages to Guy A. Yeager against the city of Louisville for injuries sustained when he fell from his bicycle and was run over by a coal cart on the Bardstown road, and reversed the judgment in favor of Yeager against the Bickel Asphalt Paving Company for $800. The Bickel Company had a contract to repair the street. The city was held liable because the condition of the street caused him to fall.

Law Criticized By U. S. Judge.

"The law is defective," declared Judge A. M. J. Cochran, of the United States district court, in referring to the prohibition against selling liquor to soldiers in uniform, "in that it does not forbid the giving to or procuring liquor for soldiers."

Judge Cochran said this after several Lexington people arrested on the charge had been dismissed by the grand jury or acquitted, because it could not be proven that they profited by the transaction or were agents for the saloons.

Eight people convicted of the offense were sent to jail for six months and fined $100 by the judge. Will Burnham, a 16-year-old negro, who had pleaded guilty, told the court that he had made a mistake in his plea, as he only procured the liquor for a soldier. Judge Cochran made his sentence one month with $100 fine. The others were Thomas Combs, John Hall, J. Underwood, Kate Schree, Robert Willis, Taylor Jewell, W. B. Webster and William McCarthy.

At the conclusion of the criminal docket Judge Cochran passed sentence on fifteen prisoners. Ollie McGaughey, interurban motorman, who pleaded guilty under the white slave act to taking a Woodford county girl to Middletown, O., was given a year in the Atlanta penitentiary.

George Majors, arrested in Bourbon county as a suspected German spy, drew sixty days for wearing the uniform of the United States army. When asked what he had to say, Majors told the court, "If you will let me off I'll join the army and wear the uniform by right." Judge Cochran inquired particularly into what had inspired the "spy talk," but the substance of it seemed to be the uniform and the rather incoherent tale Majors told about having been sworn in as orderly by a "Captain Cutts" at Newport. "Captain Cutts" never could be located. Majors said he is a native of Cincinnati and has a brother in Louisville. His parents are dead.

M. H. Williams, former storekeeper-gangster of the Eighth district in Anderson county, was acquitted on a charge of sending obscene letters through the mail. He was suspended at one time on a report of the deputy collector and two letters afterward were sent to Lawrenceburg reflecting on the morals of several people connected with the office. Williams was indicted on the theory that he had done it to get even, and an effort was made to show that the obscene letters were written on the same typewriter on which official letters Williams had sent to the office were written. The jury was out only long enough to return a verdict of not guilty.

Federal Court Orders.

John Grille, of Frankfort, former member of L. Company, Second Kentucky, who was beaten up by the military police, was presented before Judge A. M. J. Cochran on a charge of wearing an army shirt. He produced his recent discharge from the army, and said the shirt he had on was one that had been issued to him. Upon motion of District Attorney Slattery the indictment was nolle prossed. Denile Rhody, over whose arrest the trouble arose between Grille and the soldier, was discharged, the grand jury failing to find an indictment against him on the charge of selling liquor to a soldier.

Thomas Combs, William McCarthy, William Burnham, J. R. Underwood, Kate Schree, W. B. Webster, Taylor Jewell, John Dalton and John Sterrott, all of Lexington, were found guilty of selling liquor to soldiers, while the jury acquitted Walter Brummell, Clarence Haverly, O. R. Howard and Lee White of the same charge. Elmer Lee's indictment was nolle.

Refused Naturalization Papers.

Theodore Solomon, a native of Alsace, protested when Judge A. M. J. Cochran, in the federal court, stated to a group of German applicants for naturalization they could not become citizens of the country while at war with the Kaiser, that he was not a German, but a Frenchman. He never served in the German army and always claimed to be French, despite German rule, he declared.

Hugo Hempel also had a grievance. He had filed his first papers, proceeding to renounce allegiance to Wilhelm I, thirty-eight years ago in Wisconsin. He said he never had completed the process of becoming a citizen because until recently the first papers were sufficient to entitle a man to vote in Wisconsin. Mike Franz, Austrian, assured the court that he would be willing to take up arms for this country against his native land.

Soldiers Before Grand Jury.

When the federal grand jury was sworn in, about fifty soldiers were waiting in the corridor of the court to testify against people charged with selling liquor to soldiers. Judge Cochran charged the jury that if a person merely as a matter of accommodation should procure liquor for soldiers that was not necessarily an infraction of the law, although they should scrutinize each case closely to ascertain whether the person procuring it was a runner or salesman for the one who sold the liquor.

DELECTABLE SILHOUETTE.

On a bout shaped turban arise two sails of the same material, black panne velvet, mounted with a beaded fancy which is made up in the oriental colors so popular just now. This is a durbie hat as well as a modish one.

FALL TIPS.

A youthful sash tied at the back of the slightly raised waist line is one advance fad. Lines are straighter, waist lines more fitted. Large, crumby collars and pockets persist, as do the ruffling shoulder capes falling from beneath the big collars. Some pockets show only vertical slits. Skirts are not too short, and a military touch here and there is never a mistake. There are many colors which will do, not to speak of the ever good black and navy. They include myrtle and balsam among the greens, bay leaf and fox, Java brown, taupe and plum colors. As for materials, dvelty, velours and broad cloths are among the best.

"I Should Worry Now About Corns!"

They Peel Off With "Geta-It."

Two corns are no worse than one, and one is nothing at all—when you use "Geta-It," the one real corn-shrinker, corn loosener, peel-it-right-off corn-remover. That's because two corns of "Geta-It" equals one foot, corn free.

cause two corns of "Geta-It" equals one foot, corn free. your corn-pains at once, and you know that that old corn has been "nipped" in the bud. "Geta-It" makes cutting and digging at a corn and fussing with bandages, salves or anything else entirely unnecessary. Remember "Geta-It" is safe.

You'll not have to take off your shoe or pumps under the table at the cafe to ease your aching foot. See that you get "Geta-It." Don't be misled by imitations. 25c is all you need pay at any drug store for "Geta-It" or it will be sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you need know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. No alcohol. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

OTTO KAHN ON GERMANY.

Otto H. Kahn, the great banker, was born in Germany. He has kept in intimate touch with the trend of affairs in the Fatherland. There is no man in America who has a clearer understanding of the ruling spirit of Germany than he, nor is there in America today a better patriot than he. Mr. Kahn, elected to the membership of the United States Chamber of Commerce in session at Atlantic City last week by delivering an address which for fervid patriotism and clear presentation of the case of civilization against Germany has hardly been equaled since the beginning of the war.

Here are two paragraphs which ought to be read and pondered by all:

"The difference in the degree of guilt between the German people and their Prussian or Prussianized rulers and leaders for the monstrous crime of this war and the atrocious barbarism of its conduct is the difference between the man who, acting under the influence of a poisonous drug, runs amuck in mad frenzy and the unspeakable misfeasant who administered that drug, well knowing and fully intending the ghastly consequences which were to follow."

"From each of my visits to Germany for twenty-five years I came away more appalled by the sinister transmutation of Prussianism into a malignant menace I recognized in the portentous world."

"It had given to Germany unparalleled prosperity, beneficent and advanced social legislation and not a few other things of value, but it had taken in payment the soul of the race. It had made a 'devil's bargain.'"

As a result Anderson was placed under arrest.

IN MEMORY.

Death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Hensley of Walbridge, September 18, 1917, and took from them their youngest son, Dawson, he passed away at two o'clock in the afternoon, age 12 years, 10 months and 7 days. He had been very low with typhoid for several weeks, but it was thought he was improving, so his death was a shock to his relatives and many friends. He is survived by his father, mother and two brothers. Two sisters have preceded him to the grave. He was an intelligent child. His health deprived him of school, until the past two or three years. He attended the full term, seven months last year and completed the second and third grades.

He will be greatly missed by his school friends as he attended this term until he took sick. He was a member of the Walbridge Union Sunday school and was promoted from the third to fourth grade close in January 1917. He was seldom absent during 1916 and came with the subject and golden text of the lessons memorized. He was kind to all and loved by all his friends.

Rev. W. B. See of Kenova, delivered the funeral sermon Wednesday afternoon, September 19, and at two o'clock the remains were taken by carriage to the family cemetery at Summit where the interment ceremonies were held. A large crowd assembled in the cemetery where the last rites were performed. The grave was covered with flowers.

Among the relatives from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. See and son of Kenova, V. R. Lawson of Ashland, and G. W. Dawson, of Catlettsburg, sister and brothers of Mrs. Hensley.

Much sympathy is extended the family, especially his mother who was very low with typhoid during his illness and death and is still unable to be out, it is sad to part with our loved ones, but we have a "great comforter" best let us try to look up through tears and say, "Thy will be done," and see Dawson.

Safe in the arms of Jesus,
Safe on his gentle breast—
There by his love overshadowed,
Sweetly my soul shall rest.

WAR CROSS CONFERRED ON FIRST AMERICAN SOLDIER

Paris, Sept. 22.—The first American soldier to win the War Cross with the Palm is Jean McClain, of Dayton, O., says the Paris Herald. On the night of September 18 a German airplane flew over the village in which he was and dropped several bombs. One fell within fifteen feet of a building around which some fifty villagers had gathered.

Notwithstanding the warning explosions of those near him, the hero, paper continued, Private McClain dashed out into the road, and discovering the bomb, picked it up and hurled it into the river. The projectile exploded as it struck the water. It sent up a column of water and no one was hurt.

Private McClain, who is 24 years old, has been in the army for four years. He saw service in Mexico. The French authorities have notified his wife, Mrs. Elsie McClain, of Leekskill, N. Y., of the honor conferred upon him.

EAT BIG MEALS! NO SOUR, ACID STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

HAIR STOPS FALLING OUT AND GETS THICK, WAVY, STRONG AND BEAUTIFUL.

Poor hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandierine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandierine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandierine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandierine from any drugist or toilet counter, and just try it.

YOUR'E BILIOUS! LET "CASCARETS" LIVE LIVER AND BOWELS

DON'T STAY HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, SICK, WITH BREATH BAD AND STOMACH SOUR

Get a 10-cent box now

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT!

STOP DANDRUFF AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" IS QUICK-EST, SUREST STOMACH RELIEF KNOWN—TRY IT!

Time! Pape's Diapepsin will sweeten a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is usually a sign of acidity of the stomach.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches or dizziness. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin helps to neutralize the excessive acid in the stomach which is causing the food fermentation, and preventing proper digestion.

Relief in five minutes is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to usually keep the entire family free from stomach acidity and its symptoms of indigestion, dyspepsia, sourness, gases, heartburn, and headache, for many months. It belongs in your home.

VERNON TOWNSHIP, SCIOTO COUNTY, OHIO

Farm Number Twelve:

163 & 60-100 acres in lots numbers 7, 2 & 2 and a part of number 5 and number 4 Section 1. Not counting labor, there is $300 worth of telephone poles and other timber on this property; one and one-half miles from railroad. PRICE $12.00 per acre; $3.00 per acre down and $1.00 per acre per year for 3 years with 6 per cent interest payable annually.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP, LAWRENCE COUNTY, OHIO

Farm Number Thirteen:

146 & 34-100 acres in Section 28, adjoining George Arthur and Jerry Cook. This farm carries the number five coal measures. PRICE $7.00 per acre; $2.00 per acre down and $1.00 per acre per year for five years with 6 per cent interest payable annually.

This land is practically all in second growth timber; for hill land it lays much better than Boyd, Lawrence or Greenup-co., Kentucky lands. Ninety per cent of this land can be run over with a mowing machine. None of these farms has any improvements. These offers should be especially attractive to the man who wants to secure himself a farm of his own and especially so if he has a family of boys to help him clear it up and put it in a producing condition. This land will produce well, and the best evidence of it is to see the farms with their nice houses and barns adjoining it and in the same neighborhood.

On all the above named farms the Oil and Gas and Road ways shown on Company's Map are reserved; it being the purpose and intention of the Company that every farm has an outlet to the main Pike or Road.

Good Neighbors—Every farm surrounding our property is highly improved, with good houses and barns and the owners are kind, courteous and neighborly.

Good Schools—No child under the law is required to walk over one and a half miles. If school is further away the School Board must provide teams to haul the children to school.

Good Churches—Of different denominations, located not farther than two miles from any part of our property.

Fine Roads—Well macadamized and in good grades. Fourteen miles from Bloom Switch Station to the paved streets of Portsmouth, Ohio, over a fine state pike.

Two Railroads—Baltimore and Ohio Railway and Toledo &ronton Railway. No farms except No. 13 farther than two miles from a railway station.

Two Runaways

By G. L. COBB

(Copyright, by W. G. Chapman.)

Jed Torkley, runaway, sat sniveling and shivering on the horse block in front of the little district schoolhouse. It had not housed him for over a week, nor had the hutter roof. He had become an outcast, a castaway, at least so regarded by his former school chums. He was hungry, chilled with sleeping in a haymow and he had got to the schoolhouse hoping to find some early arrival who would share his unwholesome lunch with him.

"Why, Jed! Is it indeed you?" spoke a voice always gentle, for it belonged to the sweetest and cleverest girl in the county, and that was Rhoda Ford, whose tutelage Jed had so recently discarded. To Jed of the guilty conscience, however, the accents nagged to the tones of a hoarse Nemesis.

"Let me go! Don't you hinder me!" shrieked the startled wanderer, for Miss Ford had seized his arm.

"No, no, Jed," she insisted, gently. "I do not wish to detain you, only come into the room and get warm."

"I ain't cold," snuffed Jed. "I'm only hungry. Say, has my father gone away yet?"

"I hear he is leaving on a visit to your uncle this afternoon," Miss Ford apprized Jed.

The lad looked relieved. He eyed the young schoolmistress gratefully, though shamefaced.

"You see, I'm sick of it, this running away from home," he confessed, but rather doggedly. "I wish I was back in school, too!"

"Then why not go home and be forgiven and get righted for a new start?" suggested Rhoda.

"Not while father is there!" demurred Jed. "I've heard that he's bent on about taking off my hide when I do show up. If he's gone for a week, though, he may forget all about it by the end of that time. You see, mother was good, heartsome folks, the Fords. At a glance they knew the trespasser was no trumper.

"There's something for us to do here, mother," declared Toni, and an hour later the sufferer was lying on a comfortable bed in Toni's room.

It was three days before the stranger rallied from the effects of the cold and lack of nourishment. Rhoda came home from school one afternoon to find their guest dressed and clean-shaven, seated before the glowing grate of the sitting room. An elderly man, too, was there. He came forward with both hands extended, as if they were old friends or relatives.

"And this is Miss Rhoda, I know!" he exclaimed. "My dear, I am the uncle of the young man for whom you and your blessed family have done so much," and he bubbled over with gratitude and commendation in the story he told of an independent nephew seeking to find his fortune in the cold outside world and failing utterly.

"And I was away from home and didn't get Gerald's letter until yesterday," explained the old man. "Ah! he has had a hard experience—and I, too, for I was sort of domineering with the boy. We'll both be better for it now."

"This is the road where you clemmed the snow last winter," reminded Rhoda, six months later, as her now frequent visitor, Gerald Wayne, and she strolled toward the schoolhouse.

"You were very hungry those days, weren't you, Mr. Wayne?"

"I have been hungry ever since," declared Gerald.

She regarded him wonderingly. "Hungry for your love!" he explained, and a new sweet delight was singing in the happy heart of his fair companion.

"Autumn's furs."

Scotch moleskin in voluminous stole and a union muff here and there the chic and battishly gray set of broadcloth.

The stole fastens curiously with satin ribbon ties in a big bow front.

PLANK DEEPES, MORTGAGES OIL AND GAS LINES FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

"Never mind that," directed Rhoda, a quarter of a mile to the run home and get a bite."

"You're good as gold!" declared Jed huskily, and there was genuine emotion in his tones. "Yes, ma'am, I'll go home—and stay home."

The next morning, spick and span, Jed came to school. He was the model attendant of the day. There was a snowstorm that night. When Rhoda, her articles in place, started for her school duties next morning, she was surprised to find a two-foot cleared track running from the door into the road along it past the timber stretch and straight up to the very door of the schoolhouse. She glanced approvingly at Jed during the morning session, but he seemed insensible to the attention.

"Thank you, Jed!" spoke Miss Ford as, at recess, she passed him at the door.

"What for, ma'am?" inquired Jed innocently.

"The nice clear path you shoveled for me this morning."

"Why, that wasn't me. Say, did some one? Why, it was him, of course!" exclaimed Jed, with a sudden burst of intelligence.

"And who is him?" inquired Rhoda, curiously.

"The man I gave your lunch to."

"My—lunch?" repeated Rhoda mystified.

"Yes, ma'am. Oh, that's so—I didn't tell you, did I? You see, I didn't eat your lunch, although I was high famished. I gave it to a fellow who needed it ten times worse than I did, I reckon."

"Who was it, Jed?" asked Rhoda, with rising interest.

"A young man, tall, dark and handsome. He's been hanging around the town for a week. Stranger. My brother-in-law, who works at the post office, says he calls there half a dozen times a day, so he must be waiting around for some letter."

"But what about the lunch?" pressed Rhoda.

"Why, just as I was going to eat it, after leaving you," narrated Jed. "I saw him sitting on a tree stump. He looked starved and half-frozen. I thought to myself, 'maybe you're sort of a prodigal son, like myself.' I went up to him and said, 'You look hungry, mister.' 'Pretty near,' he said, with a sigh that hit me hard. I set the lunch down beside him. I told him how I came by it. 'That dainty, pretty miss, he says—'Bless her!'"

"Did he say that?" breathed Rhoda, flushing quite delightedly.

"He did, and I say it, too, ma'am," iterated Jed, gallantly. "He tried to make me take back the lunch. I just run away. I was glad. Looking back, I saw him just devouring that lunch like a starved wolf."

"Dainty, pretty miss"—Rhoda was somehow pleased with the phrase. She was glad, too, that her sacrifice had done second duty. The air of mystery about the stranger interested her. His grateful recognition of her charity in shoveling the path in the snow had a certain element of romance about it.

It was the next day, and Rhoda and her little sister were in the barn gathering eggs from the nest, when there was a rustle in the haymow overhead.

"Mercy me!" breathed Rhoda, as there followed a human groan. "Some one is up there. Run and tell mother, Gertrude!"

Rhoda's big brother, Tom, appeared with Mrs. Ford. The others timidly followed, as Tom ascended the stairs. Lying on the hay was a tossing, fevered form. From Jed's description Rhoda at once recognized the mysterious stranger and comprehended the situation.

They were good, heartsome folks, the Fords. At a glance they knew the trespasser was no trumper.

"There's something for us to do here, mother," declared Toni, and an hour later the sufferer was lying on a comfortable bed in Toni's room.

It was three days before the stranger rallied from the effects of the cold and lack of nourishment. Rhoda came home from school one afternoon to find their guest dressed and clean-shaven, seated before the glowing grate of the sitting room. An elderly man, too, was there. He came forward with both hands extended, as if they were old friends or relatives.

"And this is Miss Rhoda, I know!" he exclaimed. "My dear, I am the uncle of the young man for whom you and your blessed family have done so much," and he bubbled over with gratitude and commendation in the story he told of an independent nephew seeking to find his fortune in the cold outside world and failing utterly.

"And I was away from home and didn't get Gerald's letter until yesterday," explained the old man. "Ah! he has had a hard experience—and I, too, for I was sort of domineering with the boy. We'll both be better for it now."

"This is the road where you clemmed the snow last winter," reminded Rhoda, six months later, as her now frequent visitor, Gerald Wayne, and she strolled toward the schoolhouse.

"You were very hungry those days, weren't you, Mr. Wayne?"

"I have been hungry ever since," declared Gerald.

She regarded him wonderingly. "Hungry for your love!" he explained, and a new sweet delight was singing in the happy heart of his fair companion.

BELL Telephone employees are constantly trying to prevent trouble of any kind in the workings of the equipment, and to repair such troubles as soon as possible after they occur.

Subscribers are asked to report trouble immediately, and to exercise a reasonable patience while it is being cleared.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then, it would last two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful."

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three. I gained, and it was all strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children. I have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

FRANKFORT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GOES ON RECORD FOR ONE SYSTEM PLAN

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Submission Passed By General Assembly With Only One Dissenting Vote—History Of Competition

The Frankfort Chamber of Commerce by the action of its Board of Directors is on record in favor of and has pledged its efforts to the adoption of a constitutional amendment at the November election permitting telephone companies operating in this state to purchase competing lines.

The action of the Chamber of Commerce board, taken with a view of effecting economy by eliminating unnecessary phones, was given expression in the following resolution:

"Whereas, the General Assembly at its 1916 session adopted a Constitutional Amendment to be submitted to the voters of the state for ratification at the November, 1917, election, under the terms of which, with the approval of the state authorities and the City Council of the city in which the telephone companies are located, one telephone company may purchase the lines of another, be it

"Resolved, That the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce endorse the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment and urge the voters of Franklin county and the State-at-large to vote for the amendment at the ensuing November election, and be it further

"Resolved, That the President of the Chamber of Commerce be authorized to appoint a committee to aid in whatever manner it can in bringing the Constitutional Amendment to the attention of the voters and other commercial bodies."

History Of Amendment.
The Constitutional amendment passed by the 1916 General Assembly, authorizing the purchase of the telephone lines, passed the Senate with only one dissenting vote and encountered no opposition whatever in the House. The representatives of both parties recognized that only by means of this amendment to the Constitution could the state be saved the annoyance and expense of two telephone systems in the same community.

Some of the larger cities, particularly Cincinnati, New York and Washington, early recognized that two telephone systems were an unnecessary burden on the community and never granted to more than one company a franchise for a telephone system, with the result that every telephone user in each of these cities is in direct communication with every other subscriber.

Burden in Kentucky.

In Kentucky, in the early stages of the development of the telephone business, numerous small companies were organized. They did not connect, different kinds of equipment were used and the standard of maintenance was not universal, which retarded the advancement of telephone development in keeping with other states more progressive. Nearly every community in Kentucky has, at some time in its history, experienced a telephone war that engendered hard feelings, as each side had its partisans, and the public has been deprived of the convenience and economy that one telephone system affords.

The public interest is thoroughly protected under the proposed Constitutional amendment, as no purchase can be made without the consent of the City Council. The passage of the bill, providing for the Constitutional Amendment and the practically unanimous vote it received in the General Assembly is evidence that it was passed in response to a widespread and popular demand for relief from present telephone conditions.

EXPERTS AT SNARING FOWLS

Sea Birds Furnish Men of St. Kilda With Their Chief Occupation—Method of Work.

The chief occupation of the St. Kilda men is fowling. The St. Kildians eat vast numbers of the eggs of the sea-birds which frequent their islands, in addition to the birds themselves, which are not only eaten fresh, but dried and salted for winter supplies. The cliffs are equally divided among the inhabitants, and a man seldom or never poaches on his neighbor's property. Each year the cliffs are partitioned out anew, the Shoon mod, or council, assembling for the purpose. The adjacent islands and "stacks" are regarded as common property, and are hunted at intervals by a party dispatched in one of the boats, the proceeds being equally divided among the entire population. No fowler in the world is more expert than the St. Kildians. Armed with a long rod, at the end of which is a horsehair noose, he climbs the dizzy heights and snarves the sitting birds at will, slipping the fatal noose over their heads and dragging the fluttering captives to him.

The Best Tribute.

(It is reported that the most touching scene of the reception of the American soldiers in France was the sight of a number of war orphans on the parade route who knelt with a prayer when they caught sight of the American colors.)

When our boys marched thru Paris, wild was their acclaim
From the men and women of France,

Who crowded the streets and cheered, till they were hoarse,
Caps were thrown in the air, and a torrent of flowers

Were cast at their feet in the way; The women threw kisses, the men grabbed their hands,
A tribute of welcome to pay.

Then sudden, the soldiers, all laughing and gay,
Come on a pallid little line Of sad little children drawn up by the side

To see the Americans fine. No cheers uttered they, and no flowers they threw
As the soldiers in khaki arrayed, But as soon as the Stars and Stripes they espied,

The war orphans knelt down and prayed.

They prayed to thank God for the help that had come
To give hope to their desolate lives To save their dear land and restore them their homes,
To fight for babies, mothers and wives;

They prayed God to bless and protect these brave men
Who came over the sea to their aid, And the hushed soldiers passed with a silent salute
As the war orphans knelt down and prayed

Definition Of Home.

Home—a small part of the world which "all the world" could not buy.
Home—the antechamber of heaven. It should be anti-trust, anti-monopoly, anti-license and anti all other forms of evil.

The golden setting, in which the brightest jewel is "mother."

Home is the blossom, of which heaven is the fruit.

The only spot on earth where the faints and fallings are hidden under the mantle of charity.

The place where the great are sometimes small and the small are often great.

The father's kingdom, the children's paradise, the mother's world.

The jewel casket containing the most precious of all jewels—domestic happiness.

Where you are treated best and you grumble most.

Home is the central tele-graph office of human love, into which run innumerable wires of affection, many of which, though extending thousands of miles, are never disconnected from the one great terminus.

The center of our affections, around which our hearts' best wishes twine.

The little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world, where we can be shielded from our cares and annoyances.

If brothers or sisters ever, the world says "shun them"; thus you will show that you disapprove of the act, making an example of them. Alas! how many examples we have of this mode of teaching crowding the haunts of infamy today. Once bright young lives over whose pure lips and innocent brows mothers watched in all tenderness; but the trembling feet took one false step and so we thrust them out of our hearts, out of our churches, and would even thrust them out of heaven. Is it right, is it just, is it Christ-like?

Figs And Thistles.

The eagle does not sting, but it soars. No man who thinks wrong can live right.

Love will win where gun powder would fail.

The fig tree does not bloom but it bears fruit.

Infidelity cannot point to any fulfilled prophecies.

God's hardest work is to reveal himself to the sinner.

There is no deed more heroic than to say no to yourself.

God will go where the humblest child is not welcome.

The first prayer was made by the man who had the first need.

A holy life is the best answer that can be made to infidelity.

People are not vain, except when they have no knowledge.

There is nothing for which the heart yearns more than sympathy.

The man who turns his back on God turns his back on his own good.

The devil always keeps the hinges of the gate of death well greased.

There are no free passes given on any of the roads that lead to the pit.

The serpent can not fly, but he knows enough to catch the birds that can.

The more people need friends the more they will appreciate kindness.

You can not pray for yourself and leave the people you don't like out.

No man ever really prays for anything that he is not willing to die for.

Religion is not something you can take home and keep for your own use. Many men tie their horses carefully, but let their tongues run loose.

The first mile on the road to hell looks as though it led straight to heaven.

The man who lives to please himself will find that he has no hard friends.

This life will mean more when we realize that it is the pathway to the next.

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or callouses so they lift off with fingers.

Ouch ? ? ? ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callous soon softens it at once, and soon the corn or callous dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callous from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone tell him to order a small bottle for you.
